

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A sheet to sheet electronic skew correction system measures the input skew of each incoming sheet "on-the-fly" with sensors and then adjusts the image electronically to match the skew of the particular sheet. Thus, the image placed on the sheet from a photoreceptor is square with the dimensions of the sheet since the image is an exact match with the skew orientation of the sheet.